HUGH JEFFRIES IS VICTIM OF RACING TRACK AT DUBOIS

Serious Accident Shows That Auto Races On Small Oval Should Not Be Permitted At All.

CHILDREN ESCAPE

Dubois, Pa., Oct. 28.—Hugh Jeffries is in the Maple Avenue Hospital in a serious condition the result of an accident that took place at the Spring Park on Saturday afternoon during the race. Irvin Ross sustaining a broken ankle, and a dozen other boys escaped uninjured by short cuts. Spencer's Chevrolet, which was in the race, and the driver only escaped being injured by a skid. In a match race between Jimmie Spencer and George Fye, the steering gear on Spencer's Chevrolet broke, just as he was making the turn at the upper end of the track and when he got on the straight, of way it was impossible to straighten out the machine. Traveling at a high rate of speed he crashed through the fence, in front of the grandstand, and while the machine was wrecked beyond repair when it hit the stand, the driver made an almost miraculous escape. In the neighborhood of fifty youngsters were standing between the fence and the stand, and that only one was hurt is fortunate to say the least. Irvin Ross was hanging on the fence, was hit and sustained a broken ankle, while Rob McMann, another youngster, was pinned to the stand by one of the wheels, but was not hurt.

Officer Jeffries, who was on duty at the race, started out on the track to keep the crowd away from the wrecked car. George Fye, the other contestant in the race, turned around to see how badly Spencer was hurt, and smashed into Aaron's Madison, standing on the side of the track, and then bounced over hitting Jeffries, knocking him to the track. He was hurried to the Maple Avenue Hospital, where it was found that he had sustained a compound fracture, the bone of the right leg being split in three places. Reports last evening stated that the amputation of the leg might be necessary. As far as could be learned, the Ross lad was resting easily and not in serious condition.

PERIOD SERIES SERMON BROUGHT OUT LARGE CHURCH ATTENDANCE

A week ago Sunday Dr. E. C. Reeve of the Presbyterian Church began a series of sermons on "God and You." The first sermon a week ago was a masterpiece and those who heard it must have said to their friends for almost double the number were out last evening to hear the second, entitled "God Bless You." The third of the series will be "God Saving."

A feature of last evening's service was the offering by Miss Ellen Pryor, a talented violinist. Her performance was very much enjoyed and many were of the opinion that they had heard a second Kreisler.

BURNSIDE WOMAN DIES AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Fluke Sandelin, of Burnside township, aged 43 years, died at the Clearfield hospital Saturday as the result of a complication of diseases.

THE WEATHER THIS WEEK

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—Weather outlook for period Monday, October 29, to Saturday, November 3, inclusive:

Considerable cloudiness, with showers at beginning and again latter part of week. Temperature near normal.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Graham of Tenth street took the Harrisburg excursion Sunday.

Game Protectors Davis And Kelly Rounding Up All Illegal Game Hunters

State Game Protectors C. W. Kelly, of DuBois, and W. J. Davis, of Clearfield, are making life miserable for a lot of illegal hunters in Clearfield county and will bring a lot more to grief before the regular hunting season begins.

It was reported to the game protectors that a lot of illegal hunting was being done in Cooper and Graham townships by "game hogs" from the Munson and Morrisdale sections and Kelly and Davis decided to look things over for themselves on Sunday last.

They stationed themselves down along the Deer Creek road in Graham township early yesterday morning and soon heard hounds running in all directions. Moving up into the zone of operations they finally spotted Steve Ballog and Carl Brown, of Munson, armed with shot guns, and perched on convenient brush piles waiting for their two dogs to bring a scared bunny around within range of their guns.

The officers placed the illegal hunters under arrest, forcing each to pay the fine of $25 and costs for hunting on Sunday. In addition to this penalty the privilege to hunt for a couple of years will also be taken from Ballog and Brown.

During the past couple of weeks the energetic game protectors picked up the following illegal hunters:

Mike Iannotti, of DuBois. He escaped from the Potter county warden after illegal shooting there and when captured at DuBois paid the $25 fine and costs and surrendered his guns.

Patrick Dullen and John Dullen, of Hawk Run, paid $25 fine and costs each and forfeited their right to hunt for a year or two, when caught hunting pheasants on October 9th in the Karthaus state forest.

Meryl Snyder, of Mahaffey, R. D., paid the same penalty for hunting on Sunday. E. S. White, of Mahaffey, R. D., also paid $25 and costs for hunting on Sunday.

There has been considerable banging around over on Coal Hill and in the Montgomery section the past week or two and some of these illegal shooters are destined to come to grief before the week is out, if present plans do not miscarry.

ACCUSE GIRLS OF AIDING FIVE ESCAPE FROM THE ERIE JAIL

Erie, Pa., Oct. 29.—Two girls, supposed by police to have aided in the escape of seven men from the Erie county jail here early Sunday morning, were arrested today and held on an open charge.

The girls arrested are Lucille Cummings, 18, said to be a sweetheart of Lawrence Clippinger, Kalamazoo, Michigan, one of the men who escaped, and Beatrice Barringer, 17. Miss Cummings is said to have taken a package to Clippinger in jail Saturday and the police believe this contained saws and files.

No trace of the prisoners, who escaped by sawing the bars on two windows and then sliding down live storerooms to the ground on a rope made of blankets, has been obtained.

BOY HANGS HIMSELF WHEN HE IS REFUSED MONEY FOR MOVIES

Oswego, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Because his mother would not give him money to go to a moving picture show, Carl Sherman, 11, hung himself from the post of his bed here last night. His mother, Mrs. Bertha M. Sherman, went out after refusing him money. When she returned two hours later she found his body.

MRS. MARGARET MARTIN DIES

Mrs. Margaret Danver Martin, one of the oldest citizens of DuBois, and a native of Penn township, died at her home at 205 South Main street at 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning after an illness of some length caused by ravages of old age. She was 89 years of age and had resided in DuBois over 30 years.

She is survived by two daughters, Miss Mary Martin and Mrs. Nora Vollick.

Funeral services were held in St. Catherine's church this morning with burial in Grampian cemetery.

PINCHOT MAY FIND HE TOOK TOO MUCH OUT OF A. MELLON

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 29.—The breach between Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Governor Gifford Pinchot was widened today over enforcement of prohibition in Pennsylvania. A reply is expected from Secretary Mellon to the letter addressed to him by Governor Pinchot in which he stated "The people of your state and mind are being affronted by open defiance of the law."

By this attack of the Pennsylvania Executive on the federal enforcement machinery, for which the Secretary of the Treasury is responsible, a feud which has been growing in intensity between two political factions in the state is brought into the open.

There were two important issues raised by the Governor's letter, it was believed here. First, responsibility for the failure to close saloons and dry up the state. Second, determination of the nominal leadership of the Republican Party of Pennsylvania, which for the coming Presidential contest has fallen down between Pinchot and Mellon.

The Governor disclosed in his letter that he is not satisfied with Secretary Mellon's statement explaining the difficulties of federal enforcement and defending the statement of issuing federal permits.

IODINE IS CURE FOR GOITER IF TAKEN IN TIME SAYS DR. MAYO

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Almost all minor cases of goiter can be cured by iodine, Dr. Charles Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., told the American College of Surgeons here last week, when he was elected president of that body. The deficiency of iodine in the soil and plant life in the interior of countries is one of the big causes of goiter, Dr. Mayo said.

Men selected in the draft call during the war from Washington, Oregon and Idaho showed an average reduction because of goiter of 14 to each 1,000. The average was reduced to seven from the Great Lakes region and from one-half to three to the 1,000 in New England. There were few rejections because of goiter from the South, he said.

Iodine, he said, has been found to be one of the atoms of the secretion of the thyroid gland, which has been chemically analyzed and can be made artificially.

"Common backache which disturbs many women is never a symptom of cancer in its early stages. Cancer causes pain only when it is well advanced, and as a rule it has been detected by the time it is long before that stage," Dr. Richard Smith said.

INTERESTS OF THE PORT OF NEW YORK DEMAND N. Y. C. AND C. & D. R. OF N. J. MERGER, SAYS NEWARK, N. J. C. OF C.

The interest of the Port of New York in providing freights for ocean-going vessels and protecting its markets and sources of supply through adequate rail transportation facilities demand that the Central Railroad of New Jersey be allocated to the New York Central system and not to the Baltimore and Ohio, according to unanimous vote of the Newark, N. J. Chamber of Commerce.

The action was taken at a largely attended meeting, October 24, following an exhaustive investigation by the Committee on Transportation and the Committee on Biers and Harbors, acting jointly. The report of the committee adopted cites interesting facts bearing on the transportation situation of Port of New York.

The membership of the organization endorsed the New York Central proposal to acquire the Jersey Central for the establishment of a new East-West trunk line through the Clearfield, Pa. gateway.

The report of the Joint Committee concludes as follows: "Your committee has come to the unanimous conclusion that it will be for the best interest of our city, state and the nation at large, for us to have this direct connection with the vast productive energy and consuming capacity of the middle western states and

SECRETARY OF LABOR JAMES J. DAVIS IS COMING HERE MONDAY, NOVEMBER 5TH
TO LAY CORNER STONE OF MOOSE TEMPLE

Clearfield Lodge, No. 87, Loyal Order of Moose, will lay the cornerstone for their new Moose Temple on East Market street, on Monday afternoon, November 5th, 1923. The stone will be laid by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, head of the Moose organization, who is coming here from Washington for that purpose.

A committee of the lodge is now engaged in preparing a program of exercises for the occasion. Secretary Davis will be tendered a luncheon at the Hotel Dimeling at 1 o'clock on November 5th. The business and professional men of the town will be given an opportunity to meet and dine with the distinguished visitor and it is expected that two hundred guests will be present at the luncheon.

At 2 o'clock Mr. Davis will address an open meeting at the Driggs theater which all the people of Clearfield will be asked to attend, and hear the principles of Moosehood expounded by the head of the order. At 4 o'clock the cornerstone will be laid and all who desire may also attend the exercises.

D. & H. Shapemen Vote for Return to Work After An Idleness of 16 Months

Wilkes Barre, Pa., Oct. 29.—Striking shapemen of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad in this section have voted to return to work, thus ending the long strike, which has lasted for sixteen months.

The men voted to accept the company's offer several days ago but it was kept secret until the road was in a position to take the men back. The condition on which the strike ended was not made public.

Prominent Odd Fellow Visiting The Lodges In This County This Week

The Odd Fellows of Clearfield county are generously giving to the support of the drive for the new $250,000 building of their children's home at Mansfield. Of the 104 children now in the home eight are from Clearfield county.

Dr. Willis K. Crosby, of Oil City, is visiting the lodges and telling the story of the children. For the present week he will meet with the Clearfield lodge, Monday night; Osceola Mills, Tuesday night; Grass Flat, Wednesday night; Houtzdale, Friday night; and Mahaffey, on Saturday night. These lodges are working to give him a big hearing, and will no doubt help on the good work.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Howell and daughter Esther and son Robert spent Sunday at Zach McManis', Elk Township.

therefore, your committee recommends that the Chamber of Commerce go on record and actively support the consolidation of the Central Railroad of New Jersey with the New York Central Railroad."

"The action by the Newark Chamber of Commerce follows similar endorsement of the New York Central plan by the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, the Product Exchange of New York, the Maritime Association of the Port of New York and other organizations, including communities in Pennsylvania along the route of the new trunk line proposed to be established by the New York Central."

The organizations propose to appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission at the resumption of the hearings on the consolidation proposals on November 16th, opposing the tentative plan that the Jersey Central and Philadelphia & Reading be joined with the Baltimore & Ohio system. The New York organizations contend that any other disposition of the Jersey Central than consolidation with the New York Central will divert traffic, particularly export and import shipments, away from New York Harbor to Philadelphia and Baltimore, depriving the metropolis of much-needed additional railroad service and a natural air-line connection with the West.

Public Reaction On the Murray Candidacy Has Forced a Withdrawal From Judgeship Race

EVENTS OF THE DAY

Hazard A. Murray, who ran candidacy for judge as a stirrer, was forced to have been announced today, in not a candidate today.

The possibility, however, of Mr. Murray being a candidate still remains an absorbing topic.

The possibility of his candidacy as an aid to the Snyder cause is a delicate question and one that Mitch Geisner, spokesman for the court wing, cannot answer. At least, what he really thinks about it has not been translated into definite action.

The Murray announcement was timed for this morning. Today it is off. Tomorrow different tactics must be found. Murray may be on again tomorrow.

The game season is approaching and the rabbit that jumps out on the highway in front of a motor car into the light jumps back and forth in terror and fright. You never can tell what that rabbit is going to do. You show up your car and give him a chance to live. It is a lot of fun to frighten him and when he comes back on your car and when you show down your car and in the middle of the road. But, as a matter of fact, you never can tell where he is going to go.

The short wing of the Democratic party, the crowd that graced the bids for Judge Bell in the primaries, succeeded for some time in hiding in the political thicket just as a rabbit hides in the thicket during the early fall months. At the time for vote gathering came near both the action and the shady political tales, by force of nature and circumstance, had to come out into the light. And now it is a question which can run the faster.

If it were a case of a real run in a race just like a rabbit usually runs on but would be placed on the bunny trail in this race of a judge, the party would be in a bad way.

phatically that those who builded the house thought it best to tear it down. As was to be expected, the gleeful announcement that Mr. Murray was not to be a candidate came from Mitch Carson, lieutenant in the ran long before Murray made his an nouncement. Probably the biggest joy of the day is that a full day off it was agreed that Mr. Murray should not be a candidate. Bill G. G. Murray, who was still electing on for Murray. The Snyder lieutenant peddled the story all day yesterday and kept at it this morning. They knew all about it.

Attended to their story of Murray's withdrawal was the statement that the Republicans had a midnight conference with Mr. Murray on Saturday night at which Murray agreed to withdraw for a cash consideration. There was no midnight conference or any other meeting with Mr. Murray on Saturday night or at any other time in connection with a possible Murray candidacy.

Put last story about a conference with Murray down along side of all the other last minute stories issued to before the political situation. Save the waste basket that you put it in for there are a lot more coming. We'll tell you about some of them tomorrow.

Missed Character.
As a political gathering in England on which was indignantly said, "To celebrate the lives of this country being devoted to follow the example of the chisel which buries its head in the sand when an enemy approaches." The first speaker rose and retorted, "Behold the gentleman in giving utterance to this apothegm, must have meant to refer to the ostrich which, in these circumstances, has a habit of putting its head through a needle."

Head Hunting.
A pair of almost blind head-hunters were in a hunt for the smallest human being now in existence as a man was recently discovered by an explorer in New Hebrides.

LUTHERAN CHURCH NOTES

Yesterday, marked the close of a very successful Church and Sunway School Institute. Splendid audiences greeted both speakers. A very commendable thing noticeable was that the excursion had not effected the attendance at any service. The pastor spoke at the morning service on "The Weft of Life," stressing the facts that before the beautiful pattern was woven, the designer had designed the pattern and the weaver followed the design. God has designed our life and if we follow the design of the great designer our lives will not only be beautiful but a blessing to others. A song and a design for making valves were held before the audience and attention called to the bright threads that went to make up the design and also to those unseen threads upon which the durability depends. This was applied to life and especially the Christian life at work in the kingdom. At the evening hour Rev. Willis K. Crosby spoke on "Jesus and A Manly man's life as a type. He traced his life up to the position he occupied when Jesus spoke to him and his attitude toward life and toward the Master from that day. He was willing to state his all on Jesus. It was a very helpful and pleasing presentation.

Mrs. Laura Stewart and Mrs. Ida Bowes of Osceola left today to spend a few days in Mount Herr and New York City.

JEWETT SIX PAIGE BUILT

$1065 At Detroit

Look at the Way It's Built—
A Sturdy Six—Not a Light Six

SOME folks make a mistake. They class the new Jewett Six with "light" sixes. It costs so little more than "light" sixes. But Jewett is a very different car. It is sturdy, powerful, rugged, fine performing.

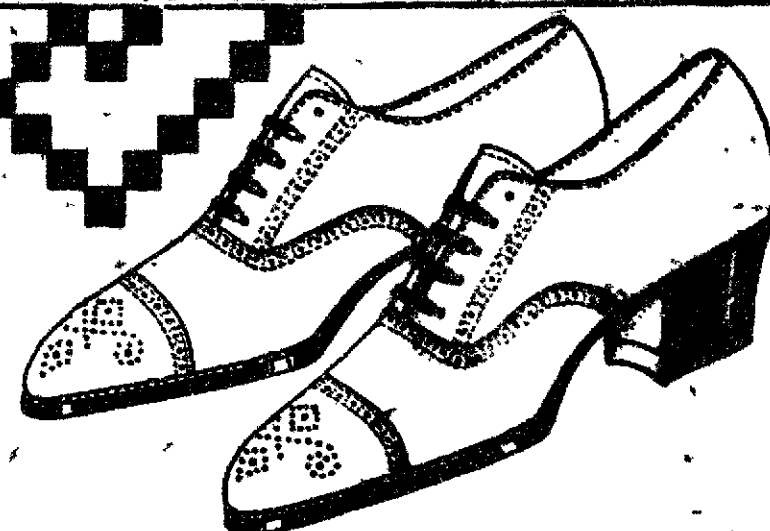

To find a car of the new Jewett's sturdiness you must pay $200 to $500 more. It is the only car in the thousand-dollar field built first for sturdiness, dependability and performance. Jewett's six is an independent 50 horse-power motor fills the hood. One look at the motor of any other comparable car and you'll realize why Jewett will pass most any car on a hill. Jewett accelerates from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 12 seconds, in high gear. Such power was never before put into a car this size.

Not is any car of the new Jewett's size and price so sturdy. Jewett's touring car weighs 2805 lbs. without equipment. This is 200 to 400 lbs. more than "light" sixes. These additional pounds mean sturdier construction—thousands and thousands of miles—longer life. And more comfort and smoothness every one of those miles!

Ask any Jewett owner to lift the hood and show you the way Jewett's built. Or come in and let us show you, not only the motor, but the 6-inch-deep frame, Paige-Timken axles, front and rear, all-steel universal joints, and springs that are 80% of its wheelbase. Then you'll see why Jewett is called a Sturdy Six!

A complete survey of all streams and lakes in the state is being made by the Board of Fish Commissioners, to determine their condition and what species of fish will thrive best in them. N. E. Butler, Fish Commissioner, has announced. While the task is characterized as stupendous by the commission, when complete it will result in a knowledge of those factors which are very necessary for the furtherance of stocking.

Butler pointed out that the flow of streams depends on the forest and Mr. Butler has made an appeal to all fishermen and sportsmen to aid the reforestation work in every way. The limited flow of water frequently delays the stocking, Mr. Butler said.

The commission last year distributed 1,028,288,980 fish in the state's streams and waters and the distribution this year will approximate a like number. Of this number more than 250,000,000 were yellow perch, while more than 110,000,000 were ciscoes, which were placed in Lake Erie. Several thousand silver salmon with which the commission is experimenting, were placed in two or three lakes, while more than 5000 goldfish were propagated for distribution to public schools and aquariums.

Approximately 2,000,000 trout of all species were distributed last year as well as 57,000,000 pike perch and blue pike. For distribution in Lake Erie more than 92,000,000 white fish, besides the ciscoes, were stocked. Tadpoles and trout also are distributed by the commission which last year sent out 340,000. Other varieties distributed included bass, sunfish, catfish and minnows.

The growth of the fish after they leave the hatcheries depends entirely upon the feeding qualities of the waters in which they are placed. This is said to account for the rapid growth of fish in certain waters, and the comparative slow growth in others.

What Clearfield county streams need is more trout; we've already had too much survey.

Our Admiral Chester of the famous Chester Concession in Turkey spoke at the Boston City Club lately on the subject of the United States in the Near East.

One of his interesting statements was to the effect that the United States saved the Allies in the great war by the narrow margin of two weeks. If we had arrived two weeks later England and France would have been on their knees.

Admiral Chester asserted that the German submarines were destroying British tonnage at the rate of one million tons a month, that this rate of destruction would in two weeks have destroyed Great Britain's power to fight. But within a few days after we entered the war our navy cut down the losses occasioned by German submarines from one million to 100,000 tons. Thus our navy reduced the loss to one-tenth, and our soldiers did the rest.

Whale Can't Breathe Under Water. The whale who, because he lives in the water, is often supposed to be a member of the fish family, is in reality no more than a human being. He is in reality an animal very much like a cow or a horse, and his flesh is real animal flesh, nothing whatever like that of a fish. And like all other mammals, he cannot remain under water without an occasional trip to the surface.

"MIGHTY CASEY"

Few persons know that E. Robinson Casey, of Syracuse, N. Y., is the hero of the well-known poem "Casey at the Bat." Back in 1885, as a member of the old Detroit National League team, Casey struck out with the bases full in Minneapolis—not in Mudville, but Thayer, who wrote the poem, drew his inspiration from the game. Casey is a successful business man and was in New York recently to attend a convention.

TRINITY METHODIST ITEMS

Yesterday brought out the people in goodly numbers. The Bible school was marked by fine attendance and increased offering and, best of all, close attention to the study period.

The morning worship was rich in soulful music by congregation, choir and solo by Mrs. S. K. Davis, who sang "Hold Thou My Hand," with a violin obligato by Mr. Davis. The exposition of Psalm 86:6, "Wilt Thou Not Revive Us Again," was a very direct and strong appeal to individual and congregation. At night, with exceptional portion of strangers in the congregation, the exposition was from Micah 6:1-3. Mrs. Callender sang a special selection.

Mt. Zion was well represented by the people that attended the afternoon worship, the exposition being Hebrews 2:9.

Yesterday was climax Sunday for Centenary payments. Every dollar that was available the people were entreated to pay in so that the full amount could be in Chicago by Wednesday, 31. This is both urgent and prudent.

This week's events: Monday evening, intermediate department. Tuesday, junior department. Wednesday, mid-week congregational meeting, followed by trustees' session, also teachers' class. Thursday, 3 p. m., Ladies' Aid Society. Next Sunday, mission program in school.

BIG FUR SALE
Tomorrow & Wednesday

The showing of Furs that we have arranged thru the courtesy of the Newton-Annis Fur Company will be on display first thing tomorrow morning, and will continue until Tuesday night.

The showing of Furs will be interesting from an educational standpoint, inasmuch as you will have explained to you the various methods of preserving, dyeing and making up of the various pieces.

There will be everything in Furs—Coats, the new and fashionable Jaquette, Muffs, Stoles and Neck-pieces. The Furs will include:

Hudson Seal, Sealine, Muskrat,
Marmot Marmink, Beaver, Civet,
Persian Lamb, and Genuine Mink

We consider ourselves fortunate in that we can show you this wonderful collection of Furs, and we would suggest that you arrange to be here one of the two days. Come in whether you contemplate buying or not—it will be interesting to see the Furs and hear all about them.

The business of every patriotic citizen today is to keep interested in politics.

If you are not interested in politics, get interested.

A week from tomorrow we elect almost a full quota of County Officers.

We elect a Judge to preside over our County courts who will, if he lives, be charged with the duty of enforcing laws and deciding points of law in order that justice might be done to all, for the long period of ten years.

Anyone who says they are not interested in such a momentous procedure is indeed unworthy of the title of citizen.

In addition to a Judge we elect a County Controller, a business manager for the County.

We elect County Commissioners who spend the money we pay in taxes.

We elect a Register and Recorder and a Prothonotary, men who must be capable and willing to give service.

If you have not studied the qualifications of the various candidates for public office and made up your mind what you are doing to do about it, do it quickly. There is little time left.

Be prepared to vote a week from Tuesday and be prepared to vote intelligently. That is the duty of all of us now.

Political Paragraphs

ODELL HAUSER'S COLUMN

The only outstanding incident in an otherwise dull and profitless week in Pennsylvania politics comes, as a good many of our incidents seem to come nowadays, from Washington. Pennsylvania observers were somewhat excited during the week by the news of a luncheon President Coolidge had given at the White House, and more particularly when they scanned the list of guests.

For it was found that important Pennsylvania names were included. There was former Governor William C. Sproul and E. T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia. Those were only two names, of course, but they took on importance when it was learned that the total list numbered only nine from various states, Pennsylvania thus having nearly a one-quarter representation.

The luncheon was purely political in purpose. John T. Adams and Fred W. Upham, respectively Chairman and Treasurer of the Republican National Committee, headed the guest list. The others were men important in national party councils, with a distinct flavor of those who may be counted upon when in the course of human events the check book is mightier than the sword.

There has been a tendency among the politicians of this state to regard the presence of Governor Sproul and Mr. Stotesbury as of special significance for the politics of Pennsylvania.

Clearfield National Bank

"The Bank of Personal Service"

Except in a very indirect way which will later be referred to, this feeling is scarcely justified.

The identity of the other guests removes the implication from a state to national significance. The Pennsylvanians were only there inasmuch as Republican politics of Pennsylvania is part of Republican national politics. The fact that only a few states were represented shows there was no detailed discussion of affairs in the various states.

Those who had luncheon with the President were disinclined to discuss what had taken place, a very proper attitude on the part of White House guests. However, it was stated on sufficient authority that the luncheon was only the first item in a general plan of the President and national party leaders to bring together prominent Republicans from various parts of the country for the purpose of smoothing the way toward unified party action in the coming campaign and to create an atmosphere of understanding and good will among those chiefly concerned with party success.

There are indications that a series of such gatherings will take place in the White House with the President as host. It is said the President injects no personal note other than his evident desire to become better acquainted with those who will have a large share in directing the party forces in 1924.

There was nothing to show that Mr. Coolidge's candidacy was even remotely touched upon. Nor is it any more likely that at future conferences of a similar nature he will go into anything of such an intimate nature discussing party affairs at luncheon and dinner parties, except with men like Frank W. Stearns of Boston, a guest at the first luncheon and known as one of the President's closest friends and most consistent political backers.

Now as to the agitation which was caused in the state when it was learned that Messrs. Sproul and Stotesbury were the gentlemen from Pennsylvania as far as the President's luncheon was concerned.

Mr. Stotesbury's presence was not alarming. He is known as an influential Republican who contributes liberally to the party coffers and as there were several others of his type there, doubtless will be more on future occasions of a like nature. His inclusion in the list was discounted on that ground.

The presence of Governor Sproul, on the other hand, was taken to reflect light in some degree on the quiet discussion that is going on in Republican circles in Pennsylvania as to who shall be the new National Committeeman from this state. It has already been recorded that Senator Pepper has given public notice of his disinclination to serve any longer in that capacity. He wishes to be relieved of the office at the time when the State Committee holds its meeting for organization in June, at which time it is customary to elect a National Committeeman.

It is known that Senator Pepper would like Governor Sproul to take the office. It is not known, however, how Governor Sproul feels about it. In private conversation he has expressed an unwillingness to fill the position, since his inclination never ran in the direction of following up the endless detail a National Committeeman must accommodate himself to from the nature of the position.

Mr. Sproul has not long been back from an extended European trip. His sudden emergence into the limelight, therefore, as a guest at so conspicuous a political function caused the politicians who are interested in the National Committeemanship to draw a sharp breath. They concluded that the absence of Senator Pepper and the presence of Governor Sproul indicated the latter was making a preliminary essay in the duties of the position.

This is not necessarily the fact, however. Those who reached an hasty conclusion that the former Governor's presence in the White House should be interpreted as above, forget the fact that there is a close personal relation between Mr. Sproul and President Coolidge, which began long ago, before the latter even became Vice-President. The relationship is such that should Mr. Coolidge have desired to get an inkling of what the wild waves were saying in Pennsylvania, and particularly when the inkling was to be obtained at a private function in his own dining room, he would immediately have thought of Governor Sproul as the man of the hour.

Therefore, those who are not anxious to make a mountain out of a molehill will do well not to allow themselves to be unduly disturbed over the White House luncheon. Governor Sproul may be the next National Committeeman from Pennsylvania, or he may not, but a White House luncheon in October gives very little about what is going to happen the following June in Pennsylvania.

Hooky, the World's Menace.
Of the estimated 1,700,000,000 people inhabiting this world, something more than 300,000,000 live in countries where hookworm infection is a serious menace to health and working efficiency. With increasing pressure for the development of tropical and subtropical lands the control of this disease—as of malaria and sleeping sickness—becomes a matter of serious international concern.—World Magazine.

Progress Editorial For Women

RIPPED AND TURNED

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Everyone grinned a week or two ago when the papers printed the story of Calvin Jr. and his father's pants. They grinned partly because the idea of a man in a suit and tie, a presidential salary, and partly because there is always something just a bit humorous about a small boy who inherits his father's or his brother's clothes.

Probably every grown-up boy who had ever worn "ripped and turned" read the little tale with a chuckle, which was reminiscent of the old days when he too, had walked off to school in little self consciously, in a rebuttal outfit.

But by rights the smile ought to be the other way round. The laugh is really on the side of the boy who has graduated from the old careful ways and seems to think that for some strange reason our appalling habit of wastefulness is smart or clever.

Whether it's false pride or just plain laziness which makes us throw things away and buy new, is open to question. But the fact is that the majority of American housewives throw away and give away enough perfectly good material to keep out-right many a small family. In matters of dress, especially, we have allowed our standards of style and elegance to creep up and up, until nothing but the very latest, the very smartest, and the most beautiful in texture will do. Even our youngsters, it seems can no longer trudge off to school in the kind of sturdy flannel shirts and corduroys or serge trousers ripped and turned which our small brothers and sisters once wore as a matter of course.

But the old days of make-overs, of ripping and turning, are about over. If a thing is a little worn at the edges, a tiny bit out of style, "off with it and buy new," is the rule.

As a matter of fact, waste of this kind is the sheerest stupidity. Nine times out of ten, the woman who says that she hasn't a thing to wear, could get along for a couple of years with just what she has, plus a little making-over.

In self defense we women might plead that we have two great enemies a face when we try to utilize what we have on hand instead of buying new merchandise. One enemy is the high price of time. Lately, time seems to cost more than raw material. Just why 24 hours seems so much shorter today than it did a generation ago is hard to understand, but such is the case.

The second enemy is thrift, a thing of its kind, that used to satisfy us. But no longer is that true. Whether it is hats or lace curtains, fashion attests her edicts from which there seems to be no appeal, and we scampers like scared children to obey her commands.

The black walnut bedstead goes out, the back door to make room for the gleaming brass, which in turn is hustled to the attic to make room for the once despised, but now coveted black walnut.

Shall we let inertia on the one hand and fleeting fashion on the other make us such bargain hunters? Why can't we have the courage to buy materials of honest quality in the first place, and then have the patience to stand by those purchases until we make them give us a full measure of honest wear? There's pretty sound sense in letting a boy wear out his dad's pants, even if that dad does happen to be the President of the United States.

There is very little doubt that the number of motor vehicle licenses for passenger cars issued this year will exceed 190,000 for the first time in the history of the State.

The motor vehicle division of the State Highway Department on Monday began issuing drivers' license numbers 976-000, and is now on the last 25,000. It is estimated that the 190,000 mark will be reached by the end of the year. The division is also issuing the license plates for this year estimated 200,000 passenger licenses would be required.

The number issued in less than ten months of this year is already 110,000 in excess of the total for 1922. The division issued 66,000 passenger licenses for 1922.

The total number of all motor vehicles registered with the State has been in excess of 1,000,000 for some time. For a most 75,000 commercial vehicles were licensed, in addition to the large issue for passenger cars.

Curwensville's
Own Column

"And the next day it rained." That captures the weather after Saturday's C. H. S. football game with State College High. It was raining more or less than a slough of the home team. The C. H. S. boys went into Saturday's game sad, handicapped from the fact that some of the regulars were unable to participate on account of injuries sustained in the Tyone game. There is one significant point which stands out clear and was discernible to all who knew the game, and that was that there was at least one individual player if not two or three on the C. H. S. squad who would not obey the signals handed out to them. But rather than play grandstand and individual football, the sooner the team rid itself of that class of player the more apt it will be to succeed in contests that are to follow over the season closer. Curwensville's boys have to send the boys to State College High they are a fast and furious bunch of boys and understand football inside and out. They were down, but having one or two nasty plays by one of their men no complaint is heard of. The boys are on the field or in the air doing their best. They certainly were a gutsy bunch of boys and played the game as they understood clean football. We are free to state that

Capl. Hollibaugh and his followers will always have the hand of fellow-ship extended to them whenever they come to Curwensville, either as individuals or as a body of athletes. The C. H. S. deserves credit instead of censure for the spirited fight put up under the prevailing conditions, and had orders been strictly obeyed, whether right or wrong, possibly might have scored a touchdown at least. The line up of the teams was as indicated below.

Before the game was finished LaPorte, Starr and McFadden were laid low and substitutions had to be made to finish out the last quarter, but the boys had been advanced so greatly in State's favor that it could not have been redeemed by the C. H. S. had a bunch of professionals been substituted. Doctor Blair informed us Saturday that only seven of the regulars on the C. H. S. team were laid up on the shelf. If that statement be true, and we have no reason to doubt it, the game that has been scheduled for Saturday with Cooper township had better be cancelled or forfeited if need be. State College returned to their homes bearing on their football banner this scroll, "We are victors by a score of 37 to 0." And well did they earn it.

Mrs. Grant Norris and daughter, Miss Helen, left on Saturday evening train for a few days visit at Atlantic City.

Will Robinson, connected with the Heine people at Pitts' yard, came up Saturday and spent Sabbath with his mother, Mrs. J. P. Robinson and his three sisters.

Patience Hall, of Clearfield, spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. W. R. Miller, on South Side.

Among the vast number of ball spectators Saturday the face of the irrepressible Ralph Jordan was visible. Harry Weisgarber has been idle for several days on account of an affliction in the ear which makes his topnot whirl around like a merry-go-round.

they have decided to add the second and are now pushing the same to completion as rapidly as possible. It is the intention of the owners to convert the second story into two family flats and they hope to have them ready for occupancy not later than Christmas. Already no less than ten applications have been filed by parties who wish to rent. This leads us up to the thought that Curwensville is lame in the renting tenement house line. Is it any wonder that the town's population is at a standstill and today there are fewer people residing in the borough than at the last census? People cannot come to Curwensville to live because there is no place to house their families. Other towns are increasing their population right along because of the fact that houses are being built in which newcomers can reside. So far as house building is concerned Curwensville has the reputation of being a dead town. Curwensville people generally want to see the town grow out of its infancy and see big business come in, but it is very noticeable that the men who live here and have money to invest are very slow to realize that their home town is just the proper place to build houses. They seem to have no confidence in the future prospects of Curwensville. The good book tells us that "it is not good to live for thyself alone," therefore some reliable movement should be started by which people could be induced to come here and make their homes. As one man tells us, "the more people a town has, the more business it does." Let us try to get on the map as a home building town. Clearfield and DuBois have increased their populations greatly within the last two years, simply by providing homes for people who want to become citizens. More houses must be provided if Curwensville's population is to increase in proportion to that of neighboring towns.

A masquerade party was given a number of little folks on Friday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Blair, their daughters, the Misses Ann and Henrietta being hostess.

Rev. Crosby, of Oil City, was a Curwensville visitor several days during the latter part of last week. He is traveling and working in the interest of the Odd Fellows home at Erie. He was a visitor at Bethesda lodge meeting last Friday evening and talked on the subject in which he is vastly interested.

According to Curwensville football statistics the C. H. S. has played six games this season, winning four and losing two. In the final count up the C. H. S. is still two touchdowns to the good. It might be added however, that Saturday's game was the first one that the C. H. S. has lost on the same field in two years. Not such a bad record after all it is said and done.

Miss Frances Hall, of Clearfield, spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. W. R. Miller, on South Side.

Among the vast number of ball spectators Saturday the face of the irrepressible Ralph Jordan was visible.

Harry Weisgarber has been idle for several days on account of an affliction in the ear which makes his topnot whirl around like a merry-go-round.

A lad went into the Fleming cigar store Sunday and saw a cigar end, clipped. He was anxious to see how it worked, and pushed his forefinger into the hole where the knife is snugly hidden from sight. He pressed the button, when zip, off went the end of that useful member of the hand. His curiosity is now satisfied.

A crew of men have been laboring diligently at the B. & P. railroad station for several weeks improving the condition of the building and its surroundings. The building itself has been raised and new underpinning placed to strengthen it; a new roof has been added; the interior has been repainted and repolished, making the waiting room as neat and comfortable as anyone could wish. Yet the company is going a little further. The ground around and about the building are to be filled up with earth, making a level spot out to the sidewalk. Grass seed will be sown and in the spring flower beds will be planted. All of which will not only be a benefit to the railroad people but to every traveler on the road between Clearfield and DuBois.

Brothers have changed their plans relative to the erection of their new street garage. Instead of only one story being built this season, they have decided to add the second and are now pushing the same to completion as rapidly as possible. It is the intention of the owners to convert the second story into two family flats and they hope to have them ready for occupancy not later than Christmas. Already no less than ten applications have been filed by parties who wish to rent. This leads us up to the thought that Curwensville is lame in the renting tenement house line. Is it any wonder that the town's population is at a standstill and today there are fewer people residing in the borough than at the last census? People cannot come to Curwensville to live because there is no place to house their families. Other towns are increasing their population right along because of the fact that houses are being built in which newcomers can reside. So far as house building is concerned Curwensville has the reputation of being a dead town. Curwensville people generally want to see the town grow out of its infancy and see big business come in, but it is very noticeable that the men who live here and have money to invest are very slow to realize that their home town is just the proper place to build houses. They seem to have no confidence in the future prospects of Curwensville. The good book tells us that "it is not good to live for thyself alone," therefore some reliable movement should be started by which people could be induced to come here and make their homes. As one man tells us, "the more people a town has, the more business it does." Let us try to get on the map as a home building town. Clearfield and DuBois have increased their populations greatly within the last two years, simply by providing homes for people who want to become citizens. More houses must be provided if Curwensville's population is to increase in proportion to that of neighboring towns.

A masquerade party was given a number of little folks on Friday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Blair, their daughters, the Misses Ann and Henrietta being hostess.

According to Curwensville football statistics the C. H. S. has played six games this season, winning four and losing two. In the final count up the C. H. S. is still two touchdowns to the good. It might be added however, that Saturday's game was the first one that the C. H. S. has lost on the same field in two years. Not such a bad record after all it is said and done.

Miss Frances Hall, of Clearfield, spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. W. R. Miller, on South Side.

Among the vast number of ball spectators Saturday the face of the irrepressible Ralph Jordan was visible.

Harry Weisgarber has been idle for several days on account of an affliction in the ear which makes his topnot whirl around like a merry-go-round.

A lad went into the Fleming cigar store Sunday and saw a cigar end, clipped. He was anxious to see how it worked, and pushed his forefinger into the hole where the knife is snugly hidden from sight. He pressed the button, when zip, off went the end of that useful member of the hand. His curiosity is now satisfied.

A crew of men have been laboring diligently at the B. & P. railroad station for several weeks improving the condition of the building and its surroundings. The building itself has been raised and new underpinning placed to strengthen it; a new roof has been added; the interior has been repainted and repolished, making the waiting room as neat and comfortable as anyone could wish. Yet the company is going a little further. The ground around and about the building are to be filled up with earth, making a level spot out to the sidewalk. Grass seed will be sown and in the spring flower beds will be planted. All of which will not only be a benefit to the railroad people but to every traveler on the road between Clearfield and DuBois.

Brothers have changed their plans relative to the erection of their new street garage. Instead of only one story being built this season, they have decided to add the second and are now pushing the same to completion as rapidly as possible. It is the intention of the owners to convert the second story into two family flats and they hope to have them ready for occupancy not later than Christmas. Already no less than ten applications have been filed by parties who wish to rent. This leads us up to the thought that Curwensville is lame in the renting tenement house line. Is it any wonder that the town's population is at a standstill and today there are fewer people residing in the borough than at the last census? People cannot come to Curwensville to live because there is no place to house their families. Other towns are increasing their population right along because of the fact that houses are being built in which newcomers can reside. Joint-Ease

Says Druggist

"Joint-Ease" is selling like hot cakes in my store because it is a wonderful and speedy remedy for all joint troubles.

"But why not press on, tens of thousands of suffering people some of the things that dozens of my customers tell me almost daily.

"Some say that it knocks out lumbago over night—others say that it has no equal, while many insist that there is nothing they ever tried that is so efficient for neuralgia, neuritis, and even head colds and nasal catarrh."

Answering the above letter, we, the makers of Joint-Ease, know that what this thriving New Jersey druggist says is true, but we still maintain that Joint-Ease is prepared for stiff, inflamed, painful, swollen joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, fingers or spine.

You'll like to use stainless Joint-Ease for with just one minute's rubbing, it soaks in through the flesh direct to the ailing bones and ligaments—that's why it succeeds—for when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—and without any waste of time all swelling and congestion disappears.

HAZARD A. MURRAY IS NOT A CANDIDATE FOR JUDGE - TODAY

phatically that those who builded the house thought it best to tear it down. As was to be expected, the gleeful announcement that Mr. Murray was not to be a candidate came from Mitch Carson, lieutenant in the ran long before Murray made his an nouncement. "Probably the biggest joke of the day is that a full day off it was agreed that Mr. Murray should not be a candidate," Bill G. G. Murray said today, was still electing a judge for Murray. The Snyder lieutenant peddled the story all day yesterday and kept at it this morning. They knew all about it.

Attended to their story of Murray's withdrawal was the statement that the Republicans had a midnight conference with Mr. Murray on Saturday night at which Murray agreed to withdraw for a cash consideration. There was no midnight conference or any other meeting with Mr. Murray on Saturday night or at any other time in connection with a possible Murray candidacy.

Put last story about a conference with Murray down along side of all the other last minute stories issued to befog the political situation. Save the waste basket that you put it in for there are a lot more coming. We'll tell you about some of them tomorrow.

Missed Character-elen.
As a political gathering in England on which was indignantly said, "To celebrate the lives of this country being devoted to follow the example of the chisel which buries its head in the sand when an enemy approaches." The first speaker rose and retorted, "Behold the gentleman in giving utterance to this apothegm, must have meant to refer to the ostrich which, in these circumstances, has a habit of putting its head through a needle."

Head Hunting.
A pair of almost blind head-hunters were said to be the smallest human beings now in existence as a pair was recently discovered by an explorer in New Hebrides.

LUTHERAN CHURCH NOTES

Yesterday, marked the close of a very successful Church and Sunway School Institute. Splendid audiences greeted both speakers. A very commendable thing noticeable was that the excursion had not effected the attendance at any service. The pastor spoke at the morning service on "The Weft of Life," stressing the facts that before the beautiful pattern was woven, the designer had designed the pattern and the weaver followed the design. God has designed our life and if we follow the design of the great designer our lives will not only be beautiful but a blessing to others. A song and a design for making valves were held before the audience and attention called to the bright threads that went to make up the design and also to those unseen threads upon which the durability depends. This was applied to life and especially the Christian life at work in the kingdom. At the evening hour Rev. Willis K. Crosby spoke on "Jesus and A Manly man's life as a type. He traced his life up to the position he occupied when Jesus spoke to him and his attitude toward life and toward the Master from that day. He was willing to state his all on Jesus. It was a very helpful and pleasing presentation.

JEWETT SIX PAIGE BUILT

$1065 At Detroit

Look at the Way It's Built—A Sturdy Six—Not a Light Six

SOME folks make a mistake. They class the new Jewett Six with "light" sixes. It costs so little more than "light" sixes. But Jewett is a very different car. It is sturdy, powerful, rugged, fine performing.

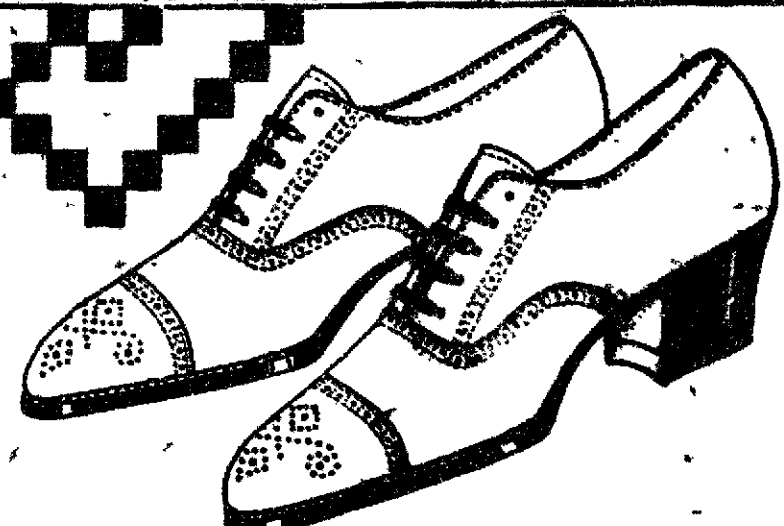

To find a car of the new Jewett's sturdiness you must pay $200 to $500 more. It is the only car in the thousand-dollar field built first for sturdiness, dependability and performance. Jewett's six is an independent 50 horse-power motor fills the hood. One look at the motor of any other comparable car and you'll realize why Jewett will pass most any car on a hill. Jewett accelerates from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 12 seconds, in high gear. Such power was never before put into a car this size.

Not is any car of the new Jewett's size and price so sturdy. Jewett's touring car weighs 2805 lbs. without equipment. This is 200 to 400 lbs. more than "light" sixes. These additional pounds mean sturdier construction—thousands and thousands of miles—longer life. And more comfort and smoothness every one of those miles!

Ask any Jewett owner to lift the hood and show you the way Jewett's built. Or come in and let us show you, not only the motor, but the 6-inch-deep frame, Paige-Timken axles, front and rear, all-steel universal joints, and springs that are 80% of its wheelbase. Then you'll see why Jewett is called a Sturdy Six! [627]

ODDS AND ENDS
AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

A complete survey of all streams and lakes in the state is being made by the Board of Fish Commissioners, to determine their condition and what species of fish will thrive best in them. N. E. Butler, Fish Commissioner, has announced. While the task is characterized as stupendous by the commission, when complete it will result in a knowledge of those factors which are very necessary for the furtherance of stocking.

Butler pointed out that the flow of streams depends on the forest and Mr. Butler has made an appeal to all fishermen and sportsmen to aid the reforestation work in every way. The limited flow of water frequently delays the stocking, Mr. Butler said.

The commission last year distributed 1,028,288,980 fish in the state's streams and waters and the distribution this year will approximate a like number. Of this number more than 250,000,000 were yellow perch, while more than 110,000,000 were ciscoes, which were placed in Lake Erie. Several thousand silver salmon with which the commission is experimenting, were placed in two or three lakes, while more than 5000 goldfish were propagated for distribution to public schools and aquariums.

Approximately 2,000,000 trout of all species were distributed last year as well as 57,000,000 pike perch and blue pike. For distribution in Lake Erie more than 92,000,000 white fish, besides the ciscoes, were stocked. Tadpoles and trout also are distributed by the commission which last year sent out 340,000. Other varieties distributed included bass, sunfish, catfish and minnows.

The growth of the fish after they leave the hatcheries depends entirely upon the feeding qualities of the waters in which they are placed. This is said to account for the rapid growth of fish in certain waters, and the comparative slow growth in others.

What Clearfield county streams need is more trout; we've already had too much survey.

Our Admiral Chester of the famous Chester Concession in Turkey spoke at the Boston City Club lately on the subject of the United States in the Near East.

One of his interesting statements was to the effect that the United States saved the Allies in the great war by the narrow margin of two weeks. If we had arrived two weeks later England and France would have been on their knees.

Admiral Chester asserted that the German submarines were destroying British tonnage at the rate of one million tons a month, that this rate of destruction would in two weeks have destroyed Great Britain's power to fight. But within a few days after we entered the war our navy cut down the losses occasioned by German submarines from one million to 100,000 tons. Thus our navy reduced the loss to one-tenth, and our soldiers did the rest.

Whale Can't Breathe Under Water. The whale who, because he lives in the water, is often supposed to be a member of the fish family, is in reality no more than a human being. He is in reality an animal very much like a cow or a horse, and his flesh is real animal flesh, nothing whatever like that of a fish. And like all other mammals, he cannot remain under water without an occasional trip to the surface.

"MIGHTY CASEY"

Few persons know that E. Robinson Casey, of Syracuse, N. Y., is the hero of the well-known poem "Casey at the Bat." Back in 1885, as a member of the old Detroit National League team, Casey struck out with the bases full in Minneapolis—not in Mudville, but Thayer, who wrote the poem, drew his inspiration from the game. Casey is a successful business man and was in New York recently to attend a convention.

TRINITY METHODIST ITEMS

Yesterday brought out the people in goodly numbers. The Bible school was marked by fine attendance and increased offering and, best of all, close attention to the study period.

The morning worship was rich in soulful music by congregation, choir and solo by Mrs. S. K. Davis, who sang "Hold Thou My Hand," with a violin obligato by Mr. Davis. The exposition of Psalm 86:6, "Wilt Thou Not Revive Us Again," was a very direct and strong appeal to individual and congregation. At night, with exceptional portion of strangers in the congregation, the exposition was from Micah 6:1-3. Mrs. Callender sang a special selection.

Mt. Zion was well represented by the people that attended the afternoon worship, the exposition being Hebrews 2:9.

Yesterday was climax Sunday for Centenary payments. Every dollar that was available the people were entreated to pay in so that the full amount could be in Chicago by Wednesday, 31. This is both urgent and prudent.

This week's events: Monday evening, intermediate department. Tuesday, junior department. Wednesday, mid-week congregational meeting, followed by trustees' session, also teachers' class. Thursday, 3 p. m., Ladies' Aid Society. Next Sunday, mission program in school.

BIG FUR SALE
Tomorrow & Wednesday

The showing of Furs that we have arranged thru the courtesy of the Newton-Annis Fur Company will be on display first thing tomorrow morning, and will continue until Tuesday night.

The showing of Furs will be interesting from an educational standpoint, inasmuch as you will have explained to you the various methods of preserving, dyeing and making up of the various pieces.

There will be everything in Furs—Coats, the new and fashionable Jaquette, Muffs, Stoles and Neck-pieces. The Furs will include:

Hudson Seal, Sealine, Muskrat,
Marmot Marmink, Beaver, Civet,
Persian Lamb, and Genuine Mink

We consider ourselves fortunate in that we can show you this wonderful collection of Furs, and we would suggest that you arrange to be here one of the two days. Come in whether you contemplate buying or not—it will be interesting to see the Furs and hear all about them.

The business of every patriotic citizen today is to keep interested in politics.

If you are not interested in politics, get interested.

A week from tomorrow we elect almost a full quota of County Officers.

We elect a Judge to preside over our County courts who will, if he lives, be charged with the duty of enforcing laws and deciding points of law in order that justice might be done to all, for the long period of ten years.

Anyone who says they are not interested in such a momentous procedure is indeed unworthy of the title of citizen.

In addition to a Judge we elect a County Controller, a business manager for the County.

We elect County Commissioners who spend the money we pay in taxes.

We elect a Register and Recorder and a Prothonotary, men who must be capable and willing to give service.

If you have not studied the qualifications of the various candidates for public office and made up your mind what you are doing to do about it, do it quickly. There is little time left.

Be prepared to vote a week from Tuesday and be prepared to vote intelligently. That is the duty of all of us now.

Political Paragraphs

ODELL HAUSER'S COLUMN

The only outstanding incident in an otherwise dull and profitless week in Pennsylvania politics comes, as a good many of our incidents seem to come nowadays, from Washington. Pennsylvania observers were somewhat excited during the week by the news of a luncheon President Coolidge had given at the White House, and more particularly when they scanned the list of guests.

For it was found that important Pennsylvania names were included. There was former Governor William C. Sproul and E. T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia. Those were only two names, of course, but they took on importance when it was learned that the total list numbered only nine from various states, Pennsylvania thus having nearly a one-quarter representation.

The luncheon was purely political in purpose. John T. Adams and Fred W. Upham, respectively Chairman and Treasurer of the Republican National Committee, headed the guest list. The others were men important in national party councils, with a distinct flavor of those who may be counted upon when in the course of human events the check book is mightier than the sword.

There has been a tendency among the politicians of this state to regard the presence of Governor Sproul and Mr. Stotesbury as of special significance for the politics of Pennsylvania.

Clearfield National Bank

"The Bank of Personal Service"

Except in a very indirect way which will later be referred to, this feeling is scarcely justified.

The identity of the other guests removes the implication from a state to national significance. The Pennsylvanians were only there inasmuch as Republican politics of Pennsylvania is part of Republican national politics. The fact that only a few states were represented shows there was no detailed discussion of affairs in the various states.

Those who had luncheon with the President were disinclined to discuss what had taken place, a very proper attitude on the part of White House guests. However, it was stated on sufficient authority that the luncheon was only the first item in a general plan of the President and national party leaders to bring together prominent Republicans from various parts of the country for the purpose of smoothing the way toward unified party action in the coming campaign and to create an atmosphere of understanding and good will among those chiefly concerned with party success.

There are indications that a series of such gatherings will take place in the White House with the President as host. It is said the President injects no personal note other than his evident desire to become better acquainted with those who will have a large share in directing the party forces in 1924.

There was nothing to show that Mr. Coolidge's candidacy was even remotely touched upon. Nor is it any more likely that at future conferences of a similar nature he will go into anything of such an intimate nature discussing party affairs at luncheon and dinner parties, except with men like Frank W. Stearns of Boston, a guest at the first luncheon and known as one of the President's closest friends and most consistent political backers.

Now as to the agitation which was caused in the state when it was learned that Messrs. Sproul and Stotesbury were the gentlemen from Pennsylvania as far as the President's luncheon was concerned.

Mr. Stotesbury's presence was not alarming. He is known as an influential Republican who contributes liberally to the party coffers and as there were several others of his type there, doubtless will be more on future occasions of a like nature. His inclusion in the list was discounted on that ground.

The presence of Governor Sproul, on the other hand, was taken to reflect light in some degree on the quiet discussion that is going on in Republican circles in Pennsylvania as to who shall be the new National Committeeman from this state. It has already been recorded that Senator Pepper has given public notice of his disinclination to serve any longer in that capacity. He wishes to be relieved of the office at the time when the State Committee holds its meeting for organization in June, at which time it is customary to elect a National Committeeman.

It is known that Senator Pepper would like Governor Sproul to take the office. It is not known, however, how Governor Sproul feels about it. In private conversation he has expressed an unwillingness to fill the position, since his inclination never ran in the direction of following up the endless detail a National Committeeman must accommodate himself to from the nature of the position.

Mr. Sproul has not long been back from an extended European trip. His sudden emergence into the limelight, therefore, as a guest at so conspicuous a political function caused the politicians who are interested in the National Committeemanship to draw a sharp breath. They concluded that the absence of Senator Pepper and the presence of Governor Sproul indicated the latter was making a preliminary essay in the duties of the position.

This is not necessarily the fact, however. Those who reached an hasty conclusion that the former Governor's presence in the White House should be interpreted as above, forget the fact that there is a close personal relation between Mr. Sproul and President Coolidge, which began long ago, before the latter even became Vice-President. The relationship is such that should Mr. Coolidge have desired to get an inkling of what the wild waves were saying in Pennsylvania, and particularly when the inkling was to be obtained at a private function in his own dining room, he would immediately have thought of Governor Sproul as the man of the hour.

Therefore, those who are not anxious to make a mountain out of a molehill will do well not to allow themselves to be unduly disturbed over the White House luncheon. Governor Sproul may be the next National Committeeman from Pennsylvania, or he may not, but a White House luncheon in October gives very little about what is going to happen the following June in Pennsylvania.

Hooky, the World's Menace.
Of the estimated 1,700,000,000 people inhabiting this world, something more than 300,000,000 live in countries where hookworm infection is a serious menace to health and working efficiency. With increasing pressure for the development of tropical and subtropical lands the control of this disease—as of malaria and sleeping sickness—becomes a matter of serious international concern.—World Magazine.

Exhausting coughs that wear you out—you can stop them quickly

Day and night a cough wastes your strength and steadily paves the way for more serious and perhaps permanent complications. Yet you can stop it quickly with Dr. King's New Discovery. It breaks up coughs, by stimulating the mucous membranes to throw off the secretions that are clogging them. Harmlessly and effectively the throat and chest spasms are quieted and the irritation that is causing the cough promptly cleared away. It has an agreeable taste. For more than thirty years, thousands of families all over the country have relied upon it. Get a bottle today. All druggists.

Progress Editorial For Women

RIPPED AND TURNED

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Everyone grinned a week or two ago when the papers printed the story of Calvin Jr. and his father's pants. They grinned partly because the idea of a man in a suit and tie, a presidential salary, and partly because there is always something just a bit humorous about a small boy who inherits his father's or his brother's clothes.

Probably every grown-up boy who had ever worn "ripped and turned" read the little tale with a chuckle, which was reminiscent of the old days when he too, had walked off to school in little self consciously, in a rebuttal outfit.

But by rights the smile ought to be the other way round. The laugh is really on the side of the boy who has graduated from the old careful ways and seems to think that for some strange reason our appalling habit of wastefulness is smart or clever.

Whether it's false pride or just plain laziness which makes us throw things away and buy new, is open to question. But the fact is that the majority of American housewives throw away and give away enough perfectly good material to keep out-right many a small family. In matters of dress, especially, we have allowed our standards of style and elegance to creep up and up, until nothing but the very latest, the very smartest, and the most beautiful in texture will do. Even our youngsters, it seems can no longer trudge off to school in the kind of sturdy flannel shirts and corduroys or serge trousers and turned which our small brothers and sisters once wore as a matter of course.

But the old days of make-overs, of ripping and turning, are about over. If a thing is a little worn at the edges, a tiny bit out of style, "off with it and buy new," is the rule.

As a matter of fact, waste of this kind is the sheerest stupidity. Nine times out of ten, the woman who says that she hasn't a thing to wear, could get along for a couple of years with just what she has, plus a little remodeling.

In self defense we women might plead that we have two great enemies a face when we try to utilize what we have on hand instead of buying new merchandise. One enemy is the high price of time. Lately, time seems to cost more than raw material. Just why 24 hours seems so much shorter today than it did a generation ago is hard to understand, but such is the case.

The second enemy is thrift, a thing of its kind, that used to satisfy us. But no longer is that true. Whether it is hats or lace curtains, fashion attests her edicts from which there seems to be no appeal, and we scampers like scared children to obey her commands.

The black walnut bedstead goes out the back door to make room for the gleaming brass, which in turn is hustled to the attic to make room for the once despised, but now coveted black walnut.

Shall we let inertia on the one hand and fleeting fashion on the other make us such bargain hunters? Why can't we have the courage to buy materials of honest quality in the first place, and then have the patience to stand by those purchases until we make them give us a full measure of honest wear? There's pretty sound sense in letting a boy wear out his dad's pants, even if that dad does happen to be the President of the United States.

There is very little doubt that the number of motor vehicle licenses for passenger cars issued this year will exceed 190,000 for the first time in the history of the State.

The motor vehicle division of the State Highway Department on Monday began issuing drivers' license numbers 976-000, and is now on the last 25,000. It is estimated that the 190,000 mark will be reached by the end of the year. The division is also issuing the license plates for this year estimated 200,000 passenger licenses would be required.

The number issued in less than ten months of this year is already 110,000 in excess of the total for 1922. The division issued 66,000 passenger licenses for 1922.

The total number of all motor vehicles registered with the State has been in excess of 1,000,000 for some time. For a most 75,000 commercial vehicles were licensed, in addition to the tags issued for passenger cars.

HEARD HERE TODAY

Hope Hanger is now prisoner in a sanitarium conducted by a combination of criminals. He is detained in the same hospital because of the criminal nature of the superintendent.

Dr. Hirston and Kelsey escape in Bristol. The two take refuge in an abandoned house. Hope hears Bristol's voice and knows that he has followed them. He goes to the house and tells him that Kelsey has abandoned him with his partner, Kelsey, and with Alderman, thinking the real head of the venture and friend of Bristol, in following on a motor car, a clew leading to the sanitarium.

mind while we've been talking. It's scarcely formed yet. It will take you to put it in shape, and work out the details."

Bristol paused the wink of an eyelash, and then plunged. "My idea is, return Hope Ranger to his father."

"If he had been seeking to create a dramatic effect, he could not have succeeded better. Miss Copley's tower lids shot up. She expelled her breath in a gasp that sounded like a hiss. Higgins reared back in his chair."

"Suppose then," he was talking directly to Higgins. "Instead of working under cover, and following your original plan of getting all we can out of Ranger, and then putting the girl out of the way, we come boldly into the open? We notify him that we have reason to suspect his daughter is held here as a patient. We give him and his wife the opportunity to identify and observe her. But we do not let her see or speak to them. We explain that the shock might be disastrous in her present condition. Meanwhile, we are doing everything possible for the girl. We enlarge her privileges, give her the tenderest care, distract her mind, bury up her spirits, and eventually cure her. Don't you imagine that her parents will be so grateful, that no fee I could name would seem exorbitant?"

"More than that, I can easily convince them that she will require constant, trained supervision to prevent a recurrence of the neurosis. Alder-

LOCAL BOYS SHINE

AT COLORADO

The two Clearfield boys at Colorado College this year are making good and no mistake about it, on the Freshman football team. These two husky lads are Carl Mann and Dave Doves, who were listed at Colorado through the good offices of Walter Flegel, a Colorado Alumnus. In speaking of the freshman team a Colorado daily paper says:

"The day of the fresh is hard to paraphrase an ancient maxim.

The average freshmen's troubles are confined to an inherent distrust of all sophomores, born of experience. But there are nothing compared to the difficulties encountered by those yearlings who seek glory and find bruises on the gridiron.

An essential cog in the development of the varsity eleven, the fresh go thru the year 'unhoned and unsung,' standing up before the attacks of the regulars, taking the batterings so that opponents of the Black and gold may have the same method out to them.

When the Tiger regulars stop a vicious attack of an opposing team, the age of the back, aided by speedy interference, turns the end for a long gain, few realize the freshmen's contribution toward the perfect machine smearing enemies on the fluid of battle.

He is a natural football player, an all-around player capable of doing anything in this conference. Brown, with his teammates, Mann, left tackle came from Clearfield, Pa., where they played on his high school team. Mann originally was a backfield candidate but was shifted to the line where his play has strengthened the former defense.

Where Lark is Unique.
Larks are the only birds that sing as they fly.

This Is The Town That Bell Rebuilt; American Relief Administration Worker Uses Corn As Lure and Ufa Takes New Life

UFA, in Russia, isn't the town it was. American corn pulled it out of the mud, as well as out of the famine. Pavements, bridges, sewers, even railroads have been built in and about Ufa by workers under the direction of Colonel W. L. Bell, who hired them, not because they were strong enough to do the work most efficiently, but because they were starving, and could be paid in corn which they would have received anyway. "Those who work eat" was Colonel Bell's dictum, and as everybody was hungry everybody worked.

Twenty miles of railroad, a rock-lined storm drain half a mile long, 278 new bridges, repairs to schools and hospitals and miles of new road are among the permanent improvements in the Ufa area as a result of the famine relief work as administered by Colonel Bell.

The railroad runs from Belouze to Lyskistsra just south of the main line of the Trans-Siberian and just east of the Ural. It connects the Belouze Iron Works with important coal and iron ore areas and has enabled the works to be run continuously. The storm drain is in the city of Zaloust and has been provided for years, but there was never enough money on hand to build it. When the corn came there were hundreds of men—hired famine victims—who were hungry enough to work for food. The 278 bridges are built across creeks and lesser rivers throughout the area.

The policy of making relief and reconstruction go hand in hand has been generally pursued by the American Relief Administration. Physicians were given food packages and thereby enabled to continue their practice. The Russian doctors who carried out the program of inoculation against disease were paid with food. In so far as possible the relief given to homes and hospitals was used as a spur to raising the standards of the institutions.

Senator Frank W. Brookhart of Iowa returning from his recent visit to Russia said that the American Relief Administration had done "a country a national education." "The idea" continued the Senator, "that in return for the food, roads should be built; hospitals and children's homes repaired and equipped; cities cleaned up and put in a sanitary condition, and that the work should be paid in food was a wonderful one. It worked out more easily and you will find that the Russians themselves will adopt it in the future. It is a idea of up-coming possibilities."

Tom Sims SAYS--

TOM SIMS SAYS--
Perhaps the Chicago man who had his ear bitten off by a friend will listen next time.

We have almost had to jerk our ears out of the mouth of some confidential whispering friend.

Chicagoan got arrested for laughing at golfers. Officers, here's your man. Come get us.

European artists waste girls with soulful eyes. Everybody does. Some folk-tail monkeys in China interest us strangely. All they need now is a knife.

Tourists always lose things, usually themselves, but

Curwensville's Own Column

"And the next day it rained." That captures the weather after Saturday's C. H. S. football game with State College High. It was raining more or less than a slough of the home team. The C. H. S. boys went into Saturday's game sad, handicapped from the fact that some of the regulars were unable to participate on account of injuries received in the Tyone game. There is one significant point which stands out clear and was discernible to all who knew the game, and that was that there was at least one individual player if not two or three on the C. H. S. squad who would not obey the signals handed out to them, but rather preferred to play grandstand and individual football. The sooner the team rid itself of that class of player the more apt it will be to succeed in the contests that are to follow over the season closer. Curwensville's boys have to send the boys to State College High they are a fast and furious bunch of boys and understand football inside and out. They were down, but having one or two nasty plays by one of their men no complaint is heard of. Their play was on the field or in the air, and they certainly were a goodly set of boys and played the game as they understood clean football. We are free to state that day that only seven of the regulars on the C. H. S. team were laid up on the shelf. If that statement be true, and we have no reason to doubt it, the game that has been scheduled for Saturday with Cooper township had better be cancelled or forfeited if need be. State College returned to their homes bearing on their football banner this scroll, "We are victors by a score of 37 to 0." And well did they earn it.

Capl. Hollibaugh and his followers will always have the hand of fellow-ship extended to them whenever they come to Curwensville, either as individuals or as a body of athletes. The C. H. S. deserves credit instead of censure for the spirited fight put up under the prevailing conditions, and had orders been strictly obeyed, whether right or wrong, possibly might have scored a touchdown at least. The line up of the teams was as indicated below.

Mrs. Grant Norris and daughter, Miss Helen, left on Saturday evening train for a few days visit at Atlantic City.

Will Robinson, connected with the Heim people at Pitts' yard, came up Saturday and spent Sabbath with his mother, Mrs. J. P. Robinson and his three sisters.

At Father's lunch at the Catholic church on Saturday at noon, Mike Kovalon, of Morrisdale Mines and Miss Mary Klusot, of Curwensville. The newly weds left Saturday evening for their new home in the eastern part of the county, where they will reside.

A young lad, Wesley McDonald by name, and a son of George McDonald, who resides out in the Ashley McDowell property near the borough line, learned something about powder Saturday that will leave a lasting impression on his memory all through life. He got hold of some powder and lighted it with a match. The flash struck him in the face, burning him in a terrible manner. He was hauled to Dr. Erhard's office who did what was necessary to ease the pain. It is probable that the lad will lose the sight of one of his eyes over his fool hardy experiment.

A masquerade party was given a number of little folks on Friday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Blair, their daughters, the Misses Ann and Henrietta being hostess.

Rev. Crosby, of Oil City, was a Curwensville visitor several days during the latter part of last week. He is traveling and working in the interest of the Odd Fellows home at Erie. He was a visitor at Bethesda lodge meeting last Friday evening and talked on the subject in which he is vastly interested.

According to Curwensville football statistics the C. H. S. has played six games this season, winning four and losing two. In the final count up the C. H. S. is still two touchdowns to the good. It might be added however, that Saturday's game was the first one that the C. H. S. has lost on the same field in two years. Not such a bad record after all it said and done.

Miss Frances Hall, of Clearfield, spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. W. R. Miller, on South Side.

Among the vast number of ball spectators Saturday the face of the irrepressible Ralph Jordan was visible.

Harry Weisgarber has been idle for several days on account of an affliction in the ear which makes his topnot whirl around like a merry-go-round.

A lad went into the Fleming cigar store Sunday and saw a cigar end, clipped. He was anxious to see how it worked, and pushed his forefinger into the hole where the knife is snugly hidden from sight. He pressed the button, when zip, off went the end of that useful member of the hand. His curiosity is now satisfied.

A crew of men have been laboring diligently at the B. & P. railroad station for several weeks improving the condition of the building and its surroundings. The building itself has been raised and new underpinning placed to strengthen it; a new roof has been added; the interior has been repainted and repolished, making the waiting room as neat and comfortable as anyone could wish. Yet the company is going a little further. The ground around and about the building are to be filled up with earth, making a level spot out of the sidewalk. Grass seed will be sown and in the spring flower beds will be planted. All of which will not only be a benefit to the railroad people but to every traveler on the road between Clearfield and DuBois.

Brothers have changed their plans relative to the erection of their new street garage. Instead of only one story being built this season, they have decided to add the second and are now pushing the same to completion as rapidly as possible. It is the intention of the owners to convert the second story into two family flats and they hope to have them ready for occupancy not later than Christmas. Already no less than ten applications have been filed by parties who wish to rent. This leads us up to the thought that Curwensville is lame in the renting tenement house line. Is it any wonder that the town's population is at a standstill and today there are fewer people residing in the borough than at the last census? People cannot come to Curwensville to live because there is no place to house their families. Other towns are increasing their population right along because of the fact that houses are being built in which newcomers can reside. So far as house building is concerned Curwensville has the reputation of being a dead town. Curwensville people generally want to see the town grow out of its infancy and see big business come in, but it is very noticeable that the men who live here and have money to invest are very slow to realize that their home town is just the proper place to build houses. They seem to have no confidence in the future prospects of Curwensville. The good book tells us that "it is not good to live for thyself alone," therefore some reliable movement should be started by which people could be induced to come here and make their homes. As one man tells us, "the more people a town has, the more business it does." Let us try to get on the map as a home building town. Clearfield and DuBois have increased their populations greatly within the last two years, simply by providing homes for people who want to become citizens. More houses must be provided if Curwensville's population is to increase in proportion to that of neighboring towns.

Coquette's Explanation. A young man recently asked one of the opposite sex why girls so frequently become engaged to several fellows at once. "A smoker like you shouldn't have to ask that," she replied with a laugh. "When you have only one match, doesn't it generally go out?"—Boston Transcript.

Joint-Ease
Says Druggist

"Joint-Ease" is selling like hot cakes in my store because it is a wonderful and speedy remedy for all joint troubles. "But why not press on, tens thousands of suffering people some of the things that dozens of my customers tell me almost daily. "Some say that it knocks out lumbago over night—others say it has no equal, while many insist that there is nothing they ever tried that is so efficient for neuralgia, neuritis and even head colds and nasal catarrh."

Answering the above letter, we, the makers of Joint-Ease, know that what this thriving New Jersey druggist says is true, but we still maintain that Joint-Ease is prepared for stiff, inflamed, painful, swollen joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, fingers or spine. You'll like to use stainless Joint-Ease for with just one minute's rubbing, it soaks in through the flesh direct to the ailing bones and ligaments—that's why it succeeds—for when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—and without any waste of time all swelling and congestion disappears.

The Phrase "All Aboard."
The origin of the phrase "Going on board" can be traced back to the Icelandic, and it was probably introduced into Anglo-Saxon by Vikings. In the original tongue board was understood to mean the side of a ship.
